

— THE DON

In 1790 a 25-year-old George Sandeman set up as a wine merchant on Birch Lane in the City of London, about a five-minute walk from Bar 1790. He began importing to the UK by ship Ports and Sherries from Spain and Portugal. In 1805 he moved the business to St Swithins Lane, calling his company George Sandeman and Co. The cellars on St Swithins Lane were ideal for ageing and storing the wines, while an underground passage to the Thames meant the barrels could be rolled off the ships, which docked where Cannon Street station is now situated, and down into the cellars.

The cellars remained in use until 1967, with last vintage of Sandeman Port being bottled in St Swithins Lane in 1955. The cellars have hardly changed, but are now used for private dining, with the Barrel Cellar offering the largest private dining room in The City. The Medieval cellar is as it was from 1548 and is used for private tastings.

CHAMPAGNE

70% of all Champagne produced is sold by the Grandes Marques, the 24 famous houses whose names include Krug, Roederer, Charles Heidsieck, Bollinger etc. You'll find these great names in the list below, but we also wanted to highlight the diversity that can be found in the Champagne region. We enlisted the services of Champagne expert Simon Stockton to help us compile a short but, we think, perfectly formed list of Champagnes. There are about 16,000 growers in the region, responsible for 90% of the production. Many of them sell to the large houses, while a number also make their own Champagne. We hope you will explore this selection and enjoy the endeavours of a few of these Grandes Marques and growers.

LES DOMAINES BARON DE ROTHSCHILD (LAFITE)

George Sandeman moved into these premises in St. Swithin's Lane in 1805, after having founded his company in 1790. In 1809, Nathan Rothschild took over the lease of No. 2, New Court in St. Swithin's Lane. The two families were neighbours until the Sandemans left St. Swithin's Lane for larger premises in 1967. In recognition of almost 200 years as neighbours, we wanted to celebrate the wines that are in the portfolio of the Domaines Barons de Rothschild, the branch of the family which began business a few metres from us in St. Swithin's Lane and now owns some of the most fabled estates in the world.
